

At Long Last -- WERC Issues Ruling

ASPRO learned today that the Wisconsin Employment Relations Commission (WERC) issued its ruling to deny the UW System Administration's motion to dismiss the unit clarification petitions filed by various unions. (A copy of the ruling is attached.) These petitions seek to fold hundreds of academic staff positions into existing classified staff unions.

ASPRO opposes unit clarification because it denies academic staff the right to vote on whether or not they want to be represented by a union. Unit clarification also strips academic staff of their statutorily-awarded governance rights.

The UW System is considering its legal options and remains adamantly opposed to this WERC decision.

For more information on unit clarification, click here or visit <http://isaunionforu.com/facts.html> to review more documents on unit clarification.